From paper-thin air-cured beef from Italy and grassy single-pressed extra virgin olive oil from France to creamy goat's milk cheese from Greece and sultry ales from Belgium, delicious foods from Europe have long charmed and intrigues the North American palate.

Products and Services

Finding these products in the US and Canada has become easier. The European Union has created a protection system that gives traditional, regional items from EU a guaranteed stamp of approval. 'Designation of Quality' labels guard the names of foods that are made in these areas. These labels are the EU's way of offering customers the best-tasting product Europe has to offer.
